WASHINGTON FACT AND GOSSIP

Mr Fitch, of Nevada, occupies part of a hand some dwelling near the rear of Speaker Blaine He appears to be little concerned about his defeat, and has plenty of engagements to lecture during the winter and spring

The majority of the House Committee to which was referred the McCarrahan claim have assumed the position that his patent and his survey are fraudulent, and Mr Peters, of Maine, has written a report of a scarifying nature on the whole game of the land ring The minority report is written by Bingham, of Ohio and backed up by Eldridge (Democrat) of Wisconsin, and Berlin C Cook (Republican) of Illinois Kerr (Democrat) of Indiana supports the majority

Washburne's book on Paraguay has been generally noticed in the East, less with regard to its literary phases than as containing some pertinent news matter which the larger dailies have used copiously It is an expensive book and was published in Boston, at his own risk Washburne resides for the present at the city of Reading, Pennsylvania, and there he composed the history of Paraguay His brother, Cadwallader Washburne, of Wisconsin, leaves Congress this term, having become weary of public life, particularly since Senator Carpenter prevailed in the late Senatorial election of that State Cadwallader Washburne is the most popular member of his family, and he is also the best off pecuniarily being possessed of wide lumber lands in Wisconsin

A rumor generally circulated at Washington is that Ben Holladay, of Oregon, is backing up the Chronicle newspaper, now edited by Mr Morris, the Executive Clerk of the Senate, a friend of Gorham, Secretary of the Senate who discovered Morris on a stumping tour in the Nutmeg State some years ago, Morris was for a long time the door keeper of the Reporter's Gallery of the Senate, and he was taken up by the combination which put Gorham into the Secretaryship, French, of North Carolina, into the Sergeantcy, and Clapp of Buffalo, into the Public Printing Bureau The Chronicle, since its change of proprietorship, has been quite dignified and impartial Gorham is in Massachusetts with his family, called there by the sickness of his wife, who is suffering from a tumor

A Washington correspondent writes as follows concerning the wife of General Fremont, who keeps house in that city this winter. "Mrs Fremont has the temperment and intellect of her father, Colonel Benton She is the powerful force in social life that he was in the Senate She is a woman of the world, who to her love of pomp and circumstance has never sacrificed the domestic virtues, and loves her husband with the absorbing love which made her brave her father's ire to marry him, and absolute devotion to his interests has been the prevailing passion of her life Let who loves power, as a daughter of Benton must love it and her fine presence, flashing wit, and comprehensive congressional power, with her kindling magnetism of manner, makes her always mistress of it. In our later day she revives the splendor of the old regime when the lines of social distinction were more sharply drawn than now, and when women in official circles, with glistening jewels and powdered hair, renewed in Young America the courtly graces of the old aristocracies Mrs Fremont will through the winter be surrounded by a circle of young ladies, and the house in which she reigns cannot fail to be one of the chosen centers where wisdom, wit and beauty, and perhaps folly, will delight to congregate"

POLITICAL NOTES

The Union Republican General Committee, of New York, has elected Horace Greeley President Upon taking the chair he made an address, and endorsed President Grant's administration, and urged harmony in the Republican party.

Lot M. Morrill has been re-elected U. S Senator from Maine for the full term of six years T M. Ferry has been chosen U S Senator from Michigan for a full term. He succeeds Senator Howard. For some years he has been a member of the Lower House

The London Times says General Schenck, representing the best and most honorable section of the dominant party in the United States, is one of the most useful representatives that America could send, to press for settlement, without compromising England's honor that will satisfy the claims of the United States in respect to the Alabama claims and other national irritabilities now remembered, after which only international interests remain

Hon. Benj. H. Hill, of Georgia, who has written more and longer letters in condemnation of the reconstruction policy than any other man in Georgia, not excepting Alex H Stephens, has just published an address to the people of the State, deprecating any further opposition, and saying that it is now the duty of every good citizen to abide by and obey the Constitution and laws as they exist, precisely as if he had co operated in establishing and enacting them

Details of the Assassination of Prim

A cable dispatch says that a correspondent of a London paper, at Madrid, writes on the 29th December the following particulars of the assassination of Gen Prim

The General's Adjutant gave me the first corrected story. He witnessed the scene, having occupied a front seat in the carriage His own version of the affair is as follows

"Prim and two aids usually left the Cortes at the conclusion of the debate on the after noon at half-past 7, and entered the carriage and drove rapidly the shortest way from the Cortes to the War Office The streets were deserted at the point where the Calle del Turco debouches into the Alcota, the broadest street in the city through the narrow passage two hired cabs were drawn up and obstructed the way This was so common an event, however, that it would scarcely attract notice, but Lieutenant Mayo, my informant dropped the glass in the door nearest him and looked out just in time to see two men, who were carrying something under their long Andalusian cloaks advancing from the shadow of the cabs He had barely time to cry out 'Stoop, General, they are going to fire,' when the muzzles of the blunderbusses were dashed into the carriage through the windows on either hand, shivering the glass to atoms, and the contents were discharged point blank at the occupants in the back seat, who must have been undistinguishable in the darkness The next moment the assassins darted back under the cover of the cabs and so around into the Alcota where they mounted two horses that were tied to the trees and in an instant were safe from pursuit because of the snow and darkness The coachman dashed his horses forward against a number of cabs, upsetting one and drove in hot haste to the War Office, where the wounded man alighted Prim simply remarked to the sentinel 'I am wounded, but not much

AN ARMY.—Gen Rosecrans in his eloquent address to the Society of the Army of the Cumberland at Cleveland, gives the following vivid picture of what constitutes an army

The fourteen elements of which the human body is composed before their organization under the laws of vital force, are not more helpless than a great armed multitude without organization. But as particles of dust of the earth organized into the human body moving under the laws of vital force, directed by enlightened intelligence and energized by adequate will soon become the wonder of the universe, Man so a great mass of men armed united, organized under the laws of military force directed by the light of combined intelligence and moved by a concurrence of all wills in one from a pitiable mass of helplessness become one of the mightiest engines of human power—as Army.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

EASTERN DATES TO JANUARY 14.

Report from the Duke of Mecklenberg

MONTFERT, Jan. 12.—The grand Duke of Mecklenberg telegraphs to his wife "After a severe engagement at St Corvaile, we reached the river near Savigne Lefeque, seven miles northeast of LeMans, with small loss, taking 1,000 prisoners"

Another Circular from Bismarck.

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—Bismarck is preparing a circular showing that the abundant and unprecedented victualling of Paris at the very time of the refusal of Germany's most liberal proposal for an armistice, fully proves that the French leaders never seriously contemplated entering into negotiations leading to peace.

N. Y. Herald's Dispatches

LONDON, Jan 15.—Herald special Prince Joinville has just returned from France He went to Chauney's army and requested a command Chauzey welcomed him, but Gambetta ordered the Prince to leave the country immediately, and the Prince refused to leave, expressing his willingness to serve as a private, but Gambetta ordered Chauzey to send him to Bordeaux under a guard unless he obeyed the order to leave the country. Joinville seeing the difficult position in which his refusal to leave placed Chauzey, and to show his appreciation of the friendly treatment he had received from the General, left and returned to England The Duke of Chartres is now in France under an assumed name Lissot, French Charge d'Affairs, is in London, and together with several leading Imperialists, has joined the Orleanists

Filibusters Come to Grief.

HAVANA, Jan 15.—The steamer Hornet landed her cargo on the 12th at Punt Biera, near Monati The Spanish troops arrived shortly afterward and captured her entire cargo, killing several expeditionists and are in hot pursuit of the remainder The officers of the Hornet seeing the state of affairs on shore immediately put to sea

The Recent French Defeat.

LONDON, Jan 13.—Le Mans was taken and is now occupied by the 2d and 10th Prussian army corps There was fighting yesterday in the streets To-day the town is quiet. Chauzey and Gambetta retreated toward Angers pursued by the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg The Prussians captured 13 guns, 2 flags and 18,000 (?) prisoners

VERSAILLES, Jan 13.—The Prussian fire has slackened The French fire continues

The 2d army corps took 1,600 of Chauney's forces prisoners, from the 6th to the 12th inst

From French Sources

LA VAL, Jan. 13.—De Chauney retreats in excellent order The corps of Manze Lidvery crossed the river Sarthe on Thursday, fighting all the time with three divisions of the Duke of Mecklenburg's army

A dispatch from Bordeaux reports that the French carried the villages of Ouely and St Marie, also that his troops are gaining ground Dijon, Gray, Lure and Vesoul have been reoccupied

A French Protest

LONDON, Jan 14.—The French Foreign Office has protested against the bombardment of Paris on the ground that war was commenced without the formal notification required by the usages of civilized warfare

Dispatch from Havre.

HAVRE, Jan 14.—The Prussians at Dieppe have exacted a requisition of 50,000 francs

The French forces operating in the field for the defense of Havre had an encounter with the enemy at Bourneville, at the end of which they retired in good order

A New Project for Peace.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—A treaty between Russia Prussia and the French Empire is talked of, based upon the following terms 1st Modification of the commercial treaty of 1860 2d The Oriental question to be henceforth regarded as a secondary matter by France. 3d That portion of Belgium known as French Flanders, to be annexed to France in lieu of Alsace, Lorraine and Luxemburg to be annexed to Germany. It is supposed that the latter proposition will satisfy the amour propre of France and reconcile the people to restoration

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A restoration of the Regency and the old Legislative Assembly is much talked about. It is said the restoration contemplates a close alliance with Prussia

WASHINGTON CITY.

Geologist for the San Domingo Commission.

WASHINGTON, Jan 15.—Professor W Blake, formerly of California, has been appointed geologist and mineralogist of the San Domingo commission

Mails by the Pacific Railroad.

WASHINGTON, Jan 14.—The Postmaster General has made arrangements with the Burlington and Quincy railroad by which the mail will be received on Sunday between Chicago and Omaha, each way, connecting with the trains of the Pacific railroad, which run every day For want of this arrangement heretofore no mail was received in San Francisco from the East for three days, and none for the corresponding week day in the Pacific and intermediate States and Territories, and no mail was received at the East one day in each week This inconvenience is now obviated

Should have Endorsed It.

The Democracy "went back on" Kentucky when all but 14 Democratic Congressmen refused to vote for the Hon Thos. L Jones' resolutions of General Amnesty, because they were accompanied by a preamble declaring that the right of secession was before the war a "debatable question" that the Government was established as a confederacy of coequal States, and that the 'practical exponent of secession was made in accordance with honest convictions' Referring to this the Cincinnati Commercial asks

What is there in the preamble that is embarrassing to a true Democrat whose principles, we are told at every annual election in Ohio, are as unchanged as the laws of the Medes and Persians? Is it matter of doctrine or statement of fact? Is not this Government a pact between coequal States? Was not the right of secession a debatable question at least, till settled by the last argument of nations? At all events have not the Democracy always told us so? What is there in all this that should make a Democratic senative, and set the correspondents of Democratic newspapers to explaining away the small vote which sanctioned the recital of Col Jones' reasons for amnesty? Has Democracy so changed that it dare not put on its own clothes? Protesting against the tendency to centralization, they repudiate the principles the existence and recognition of which leading Democratic statesmen held to be the best safeguard against that tendency They make haste to negatively declare the absolute supremacy of the General Government and the indissolubility of the Union They recognize nationality as something more than a federation of States, and take away from their Southern brethren the only plea they have for a justification of their conduct Refusing by their votes to sanction the assertion of the secessionists, that they acted up on a conscientious conviction as to their right when they withdrew from the Union to set up a Government of their own, they placed them in the attitude of traitors and condemn their acts as treasonable This is cruel to those who now ask for full amnesty and pardon as their conduct was cowardly when these same people sought their assistance in working out the problem of Southern independence, and had reason to expect it The preamble of the Jones resolution may be embarrassing, but to be consistent the Democrats of the House should have indorsed it

In Milwaukie, recently, twin infants froze to death in their crib in the same room in which their parents slept

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

The Recent French Defeat.

LONDON, Jan 14.—A correspondent at the Army of the Loire's headquarters gives the following particulars of the second day's battle between Chauzey's forces and the German army "This is probably the most eventful battle fought since the struggle began and closed at nightfall After the defeat of the 10th Chauzey rallied his broken columns, and received reinforcements After a night of unceasing labor daylight found the French forces prepared for conflict. Their army consisted of three corps, under the command of Admiral Jourequilly and Generals Colomb and Jouffery The corps averaged 50,000 men each, making a force of 150 000 men, the whole under the command of General Chauzey. By 1 o'clock A M Jourequilly's corps had taken position on the right bank of the river Heisne, General Colomb's was posted on the plateau of Avons, and Jouffery's on the right The Prussians advanced along those roads, under the command of Prince Frederick Charles himself, apparently 200,000 strong

At 10 o'clock the firing was opened from batteries on the left of the French. Soon a force of German infantry, flanked by cavalry, advanced under cover of a heavy artillery fire, striking the right of Jourequilly's position The assaulting column was met by a fierce artillery fire from many guns The struggle was severe and well contested. Although the Germans suffered heavy loss they finally succeeded in driving back the French, capturing two guns and holding an important position near the river. Chauzey perceiving the danger which threatened his position, moved forward reserves of artillery to support Jourequilly, and opened a terrific fire which checked for a while the further advance of the Germans in that direction Two or three severe assaults were made by the Germans to secure further advantage, the object being to take the position held by the French at La Tuimere The French, strongly posted, fought with great courage and determination. Each assault was repulsed with serious loss to the Germans, the French also losing heavily.

Meantime an equally fierce attack was made on the French line, covering the railway to Chartres and Paris After two hours fighting the French center was driven back when it retreated slowly and in good order for a mile to another position in the rear of that first occupied where ing ground afforded good ... artillery Here Chauzey's forces got ... and by marines, and opened a ... vancing enemy This ... them to fall back A heavy counter fire was opened by the German batteries which ... ing position on the left of the railway ... periority of the German ... apparent After ... the French ... slackened, the Germans ... Horrors of the Bombardment of Paris

LONDON, Jan 16.—The Paris newspapers say a rain of projectiles, some weighing 90 kilograms, unparalleled in the history of sieges ... The Paris government protests to foreign powers against the bombardment, wantonly, of hospitals, ambulances and churches, and killing of innocent women and children They say military usage requires a warning to remove non-combatants They protest loudly in the face of the civilized world at this useless barbarism The inhabitants are undismayed

On the night of the 10th, vigorous sorties by the Paris garrison took place against the Germans near Le Bourget and Drancy, and on the 11th corps near Meudon, and on the 2d Bavarian corps near Clamart The Parisians were everywhere repulsed.

An Old Reminiscence Revived

A Washington telegram of January 7th gives this

A resolution was adopted calling upon the President to transmit to the House copies of the reports of John Hogan and George B. McClellan upon the resources of the Dominican Republic, made under the Administration of President Pierce.

It thus appears that the acquisition of San Domingo is not a new scheme. It was proposed under a Democratic Administration seventeen years ago, and they who have recently been denouncing it as an "iniquitous scheme" may be surprised to learn that it is really of Democratic origin. A contemporary explains that it happened in this wise: "In the summer of 1854, during the Presidency of Pierce, Captain McClellan was sent out to the West Indies on a secret expedition, to secure somewhere on the coast of San Domingo a coaling station, and to make explorations with a view to further acquisitions. He was sent by the Navy Department, in a gunboat detailed for that purpose, commanded by Captain Renshaw, who was killed in 1863 by the blowing up of the Westfield in Galveston harbor. McClellan made an extensive tour through the islands and selected the bay and promontory of Samana, since made historic by the warfare which its proposed acquisition has raised in this country. On his return Captain McClellan drew up two reports, which have never been printed, but are still on file in the archives of the War Department. President Pierce was very much in favor of acquiring the bay of Samana, and as much more land as possible. Active negotiations were at once opened. The reports of McClellan, one on the bay and its defenses, and the other on the island, were the basis of diplomatic negotiation. There was, however, a strong opposition on the part of the French and British Governments, and the influence of these two powers was sufficient to prevent the Dominican Government from agreeing to the cession of any part of the territory of the Republic. McClellan reports have slumbered quietly in the Department at Washington until now, when an old tradition in the State Department, which is never wholly changed through successive Administrations, caused a new inquiry to be made, and the old negotiations to be revived."

The Democratic party was very anxious to get San Domingo then, in order to give additional weight to the slave system against the rapidly increasing power of the free States: but now they know of no reason why we should have it.

A Crushing Blow.

The complete defeat of the Army of the ... announced in the dispatches to-day, would seem to be a final blow to French hopes. It is madness for the French people to continue the war longer. Since the fall of ... they have fought courageously, ... odds have been against them. They have made a splendid fight, where no one supposed a fight possible. France has fallen, ... which no one supposed would offer ... serious resistance, is meeting the horrors ... bombardment with yet unshaken resolution ... heroism. France has retrieved her position for courage and again compelled the respect of the world for French manhood and valor. The world is now forced to acknowledge that the Republic has fought ten ... as well as the Empire, even though the Empire and consigned every regular regiment of France into captivity and left the Republic ... with which to renew the resistance.

... the end is now drawing near. The ... of war which the French armies ... wantonly carried into Germany, ... upon the French people, who ... the consequences of a war begun by themselves or by their Emperor, for ... may be just to throw the blame of the war on the Empire rather than on the French people, but the people must bear a great ... of the blame and suffer the whole consequences, and while the world is compelled to admire their courage it will not forget that it was France that assailed Germany; that France has brought her fearful punishment upon herself.

Paris must soon capitulate. It is impossible for her long to withstand such a bombardment. Then the great German armies will be released to march at will over France. No force can be collected by the French to withstand the different German columns now operating in the field. What can they do when to these columns are added the 400,000 men now surrounding Paris? The French, since their betrayal by their imbecile Emperor, have made a good fight, but it is hopeless, and submission is now all that is left for them. They can now submit without loss of honor, for they have proved to the world by the resistance they have made under the most depressing circumstances, their traditional courage and heroism.

Tammany President-Makers.

The New York Leader, said to be the property and organ of A. Oakey Hall and Peter B. Sweeny, who are Tammany chiefs, recently announced that Governor Hoffman will not be the Democratic candidate for President in 1872. It also says the New York Democrats will support a nominee from any other State, preferring a Western man, but above all other Western men, Thomas A Hendricks, of Indiana. On this announcement by the Leader, Forney's Press has the following paragraph, which has at least the merit of shrewdness:

This early announcement of the plans of the Tammany leaders, who are, all things considered, the absolute managers and controllers of the Democratic destinies of the whole nation, is a sort of quiet invitation to the disintegration of the supporters of the aspirants who reside in other States. These shrewd and daring men understand right well that Pendleton antagonizes Hendricks, and that Asa Packer and his friends do not affect Hancock, and that if all the others who hunger after the great prize outside of New York can be got actively by the ears, Governor Hoffman will come in for the sweepstakes of the nomination as the available standard-bearer and peace-maker.

It is apparent that the power of resistance in Paris has long outlasted the early expectations of the besiegers. Bismarck, in a circular which is announced in the dispatches of to-day, virtually admits this fact. He points to the unprecedented amount of stores collected in Paris, as shown by the length of time that city has held out, as proof that the French leaders did not intend to make peace some months ago when they broke off negotiations for an armistice on the ground that the Germans would not allow Paris to be revictualled. This point against the French is well taken. But it shows also that the Germans are disappointed in the long resistance which Paris is making.

Beet Sugar Manufacture

We are indebted to Col. C. H Larrabee, who arrived from California by last steamer, for some very excellent samples of beet sugar from the Alvarado mill. The appearance of the sugar, as well as its flavor, will quite surprise one who sees and tastes it for the first time. It is no wonder that with such results there is every encouragement in California to go on with and develop the industry. Accompanying the samples is the following letter from Col. Larrabee, which contains much valuable information on the subject, and which will be read with general interest in Oregon

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Reading your article in this morning's paper, upon the sugar beet question, I was glad to see that you had so excellent an appreciation of this (to us) new industry. Hence I send you some samples of sugar which I took from the centrifugals myself at the Alvarado factory. I spent a day in witnessing the process, and aided by Mr. Bonesteel, the general manager, who happened to be an old Wisconsin friend, I think I tolerably appreciated the economics of the enterprise. Suffice it to say, without entering into details, it is confidently believed from working experiments, that the entire capital invested will be returned to the stockholders in two years. There are three grades of sugar. The first, of which I leave you a specimen, pays the entire cost of production; leaving the second and third and the residuum, in the shape of molasses, to ensure the profits. To this, however, must be added the macerated and pressed pulp, with which the Alvarado company are fattening a hundred head of oxen. The factory furnishes employment to eighty men. To this number must be added the force necessary to raise the beets during the growing season. The Alvarado company have raised their own beets thus far, but have now on hand a supply only for a month to come. The coming season they intend planting from 600 to 1,000 acres.

That the beet of Oregon will produce as much saccharine as that of California there can be no question. That the enterprise is more largely remunerative than any form of manufacturing industry now established in Oregon, I have no doubt; and this can be verified by an investigation like that made by myself. You are mistaken when you say the Alvarado factory is not first class. The contrary is the fact. [We were led into this error by the Alta California, whose statements we followed.—ED. OREGONIAN] The important parts of the machinery were imported from Germany, and are of the latest patterns, combining the latest improvements. It is true French chemists have lately discovered a way to manipulate the residuum (molasses) so as to extract a further quantity of sugar, and in this way swell the profit. If the capitalists of Portland would erect another Alvarado factory, they would not only reap large returns from their investment but would furnish employment for more than a hundred men. C. H. L.

PORTLAND, Jan. 16, 1871.

The Missouri Republican, the leading Democratic journal of the Central States, has been examining the Chinese statistics as disclosed by the United States census in California, and comes to the following conclusion:

When we come to reduce the vexed question of Chinese immigration down to sober facts and figures, we find that it is a matter of comparatively small consequence; and that unless a sudden and unexpected change occurs, it is never likely to assume troublesome dimensions.

The views of the Republican, says the Albany Register, vary materially from those entertained by politicians of the Democratic school in Oregon. The terrible results to follow the introduction of the "Heathen Chinee" upon our soil was the sole "argument" of Democracy in the last political combat.

The Albany, (N. Y.), Journal says it now appears that Mr. Sumner, in his recent excited speech, either said of the Executive things and imputed to him motives which he did not intend, or having intended them, is not prepared to stand up to what he said. Having succeeded, as he probably did not intend, in turning the San Domingo question into a personal one, personal between himself and the President, the position is now found to be an uncomfortable one for himself. Hence we find mutual friends mediating as peace-makers, the Secretary of State among others, and chiefly because of the embarrassing position in which the Senator, who has no qualities as a leaders has placed himself.

TRADE WITH PORTLAND AND SAN FRANCISCO—THE SNOW-FALL VERY LIGHT—HARD TIMES EXPECTED—NO MONEY FOR "DRINKS"—GOOD TEMPLARS PROSPERING.

CANYON CITY, Oregon, Jan. 10, 1871.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

It is now three weeks since we received our mail from Portland. Part of our San Francisco mail arrives by way of Boise City, overland. It is to be hoped it will all find that channel soon. Every time the question is discussed here, it is decided that we must open communication with San Francisco via Winnemucca and the railroad. It is estimated that freight can be brought here over this latter route for 4½ to 5 cents per pound. When the road to Winnemucca is improved a little, freight can be teamed as cheap from there as from the Dalles to this place. The road is a little longer, but not near so hilly. Those who are most friendly to Portland admit, that our trade where they can do better—where their goods will not have to be handled so often before reaching this place.

Communication with Camp Harney has not been hindered with snow this winter; and once over the mountain between here and Camp Harney, the way is clear to the railroad. The mail from Boise City arrives here regularly once a week.

The snow-fall has been so light this winter that it makes us look elsewhere than the mines for the means of continued prosperity during the coming season. Stock and grain are our principal resources when the mining yield fails. In this view of the situation we feel the need of a good flouring mill; one that can supply the demand for flour. The small one now here falls far short of this, and, as a consequence, large quantities of flour have to be shipped from the Dalles and Grand Ronde valley for which cash is paid out, while our farmers here have plenty of grain seeking a market in vain because it is unground. It is to be hoped another summer will develop enterprise enough in our county to build a good mill and thus bring out an element of wealth hitherto untouched.

Our town is building up rapidly; yet there is one evidence plainly visible of the effect of the fire. The stores in town were never so bare of goods at this season of the year. The merchants not only keep their stocks in their cellars to be secure from fire, but the stock is short even in the cellars. Another evidence of hard times here is the fact that the Good Templars are having a successful run. A new lodge was to have been established at Prairie City last night. If the snow fall in the mountains does not double before spring, the Good Templars will catch many a hardy miner. When a man cannot treat because he is broke, it is a relief to have some other reason for it.

CURRENT NOTES.

A man who has been Governor of Maine "accommodated" a stranger on the cars the other day with $250 "until he could get a check for $3,000 cashed!" That ex Governor has lost his faith in human nature.

Ex President Johnson complains that during the "late immortal war," as he calls it, the rebels carried off nearly all his books and papers, and even his tailor's shears that he prized highly from having used so long. He says that since the war many of his books have been returned, but those shears and his sign "A. Johnson, Tailor," have never turned up.

Mr. Hudson, the managing editor of the New York Herald, commenced as marine reporter on the Express, and had such a wonderful memory that he could hear the names of all the arrivals, captains and sailing places, and carry them for a perfectly correct record to the office. A singular fact about it is that he allowed himself on two occasions to write these facts down on the spot, and from that day to this his offended memory would never serve him as before.

WAR MISCELLANY.

Henri Rochefort now figures as a simple and unpretending private in the Paris artillery of the Guard on review days. Rochefort's conversion is one of the most extraordinary results of the war.

The French gunboats in the Seine are said to be formidable affairs. They carry each an immense gun, the effective range of which, at its regular elevation, is five miles and a quarter. Cork enters largely into the manufacture of the gunboats.

The Prussians, a Paris correspondent states, receive papers daily from within the city, besides the private news conveyed to them by their own skillful spies. For all intelligence of what is transpiring within Paris the Prussians pay handsomely.

A correspondent, writing from Paris on the 26th ult., says there is an effective grand total of 450,000 National Guards in Paris of all classes now under arms. This force does not include the levies from the provinces of the regular troops who were in Paris when the siege commenced.

Nothing can be more desolate than the appearance presented by the Bois de Boulogne at present. Where the trees stood thick and flourishing, ugly open spaces are only to be seen, the stumps of the trees are all sharpened to a point. All the water fowl formerly in the lake have been shot and eaten by the Mobiles and the troops, and soldiers are encamped everywhere.

General Trochu, returning to Paris from the battlefield after one of the recent sorties, addressed the 24th battalion of the National Guard in words of high praise, saying that the National Guard during their fight with 100,000 veterans had driven the enemy from their position. The battalion responded with loud cheers and enthusiastic cries of "Vive Trochu! Vive la Republique!"

All of Trochu's plans, previous to Ducrot's great sortie on the 29th November, were known for some days previous to the event in Paris. The information was furnished by the young staff officers to their sweethearts and mistresses under the seal of the profoundest secrecy, with the result that everybody—the Prussians included, doubtless—was put in knowledge of what was about to transpire.

In his general order, on the 25th ultimo, to counting Ricciotti Garibaldi's victory over the Prussians at Chatillon-sur Marne, General Garibaldi advised the Prussians not to compel him to adopt the system of reprisals by a failure on their part to abide by the rights of the citizens. This threat has some point, since Garibaldi had in his possession sixty-seven Prussian prisoners, of whom twelve were officers.

OREGON.

Lane county has just paid $3,000 of her State taxes for which she has been in arrears since 1862.

The Eugene Guard opposes land grants, but is very anxious that grants should be made for divers roads to center in Lane county.

A party of N. P. R. R. surveyors are at work near St. Helens on the Oregon side, looking, apparently, for a route up the river.

The State land office up at La Grande is in running order. Up to the 1st of January 9,600 acres had been disposed of. These lands belong to the 500,000 acre grant.

Oregon Forests.

[From the Sacramento Union]

Respectable authorities East and West are reckoning upon the time our forests must be completely used up unless the people take to the cultivation of trees. Twenty to thirty years is the time agreed upon, as far as the lands not mountain are concerned. On the Pacific slope this will not apply, as all those who have seen

——"The continuous woods
"Where rolls the Oregon,"

and woods no less continuous and dense, which darken the level shores of the Pacific and Puget Sound, will bear us out in saying. These Oregon woods are unlike any other forests in the United States. An accurate description of them would no more be credited than a truthful statement of the dimensions of the "Mother of the Forest" in Calaveras. We don't hazard in saying that, from Port Orford to Victoria, from the sea back 30 miles, there is timber enough to supply the whole demand of the coast for two centuries, and leave a very large grove for the use of the third century. Nevertheless, that is no argument against forest culture in our plains, valleys and foothills, where even now there is hardly wood enough for the wants of a sparse population. The Sierra Nevada forests will not hold out like these "continuous woods" of Oregon, because they have not one-sixth the density, nor much over half the hight. We shall presently exhaust the foothills entirely, and after necessity drives us into the region of the sugar pine and the still higher region of the "hackmatack," our firewood will become so dear as to be chief cost of keeping house.

Of England's strong desire to settle the Alabama claims and remove every cause of dispute with the United States, there has of late been many special proofs. In addition to these we have now the declaration of the Pall Mall Gazette that she is heartily sick of the matter and will do almost anything in reason to procure a settlement. This disposition, no doubt, has direct reference to the present position of Europe, involving the possibility of a general war within the year that is about to open. On the result of the European conference—the outcome of England's efforts in the interest of peace—much depends. It cannot be disguised that an increasing doubt exists among all well-informed persons, while there are many counting themselves among the close observers who believe that within the next twelve months Europe will be involved in a general war, which, if the Alabama claims and other irritating questions with England are not removed, will involve this country. England retains a recollection, as should we, of the applause bestowed on Mr Sumner's speech two years ago, more especially on the remark that, perhaps, after all, what would suit the greatest number in this country, touching the Alabama claims, would be the opportunity to "take pay in kind." The knowledge that this observation is as correct now as it ever was, probably accounts in a good degree for England's desire for an immediate settlement. We may remark, also, that it may predispose her to act justly in coming to terms—a predisposition which is to be noticed at different times in England's history when she has been placed in similar circumstances.

A NOVEL IDEA.—The San Francisco Chronicle has this paragraph:

Senator Morrill of Vermont is decidedly original in some of his ideas. The latest is embodied in a resolution introduced by him and adopted by the Senate, directing an inquiry by the Finance Committee as to the expediency of imposing a tax of one dollar upon each application for an official position having a salary of not less than $1,000, and the same upon each signature thereto made to the President or made to be presented to any of the Executive Departments; and where the salary is $1,000 an additional tax of fifty cents. This might well be entitled a resolution to provide revenue for paying off the National debt, for should the Finance Committee report favorably upon the resolution, the increase of receipts in the Federal Treasury from this source alone will be almost incredible. For each Federal position worth $1,000 per annum there are at least five hundred applications, signed by as many "leading citizens" of the community in which the petitioner resides. Congress may well abolish the revenue system if Morrill's idea is embodied in a law.

TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 17, 1871.

CITY.

REFORM SCHOOL.—We are informed that some further effort is about to be made in the direction of the creation of a reform school (or similar institution) for juvenile offenders and boys who are either without parents or guardians, or beyond proper domestic control—an institution to which vicious or vagrant boys can be sent for purposes of restraint and reform. Some time ago a respectful petition in this behalf, signed by some of the ladies of the highest standing in society in this city, was presented to the City Council, and was by that body referred to a committee, since when it has not been heard of. It must be within the knowledge of some, if not all, the members of the Council, that there is in the city a numerous class of boys who are not restrained from vicious courses and who are going to the bad as rapidly as time and evil associations can carry them; and it must be believed by our Councilmen that something ought to be done, and might be done, to avoid the ripening of the fearful crop of criminals now growing in this city. This matter has been discussed in the papers, in societies and by individuals, until it must be apparent that the very general sentiment of the community points to some sort of a reformatory institution as one of the most urgent of public needs. And yet, taking the non-action of the Council as the rule by which to judge them, they evidently must be of opinion that all these expressions are but idle clamor, and that they have no duty to perform in the premises. We have no fault to find with the integrity of the Councilmen nor their general zeal in promoting the public good, in matters which lie along the old beaten paths of city legislation. They are careful, conservative and economical. The trouble is that they make economy so particularly a rule that they sometimes fail to consider a new proposition in the broad view in which liberal expenditure is seen to be the truest and wisest economy. A reform school, for instance, would cost a considerable sum of money to begin with, and in this fact lies the trouble—the Councilmen are probably timid about assuming the responsibility of ordering such an expenditure. And yet, it could not be difficult to show that the cost would be a good investment. This argument, however, is an unnecessary one here—there is no body who pretends to controvert the proposition. The community has long since been prepared to bear the cost, and we think we are not at all mistaken in saying there is growing a widespread impatience at the non-action of the Council. This is manifest in the movement above alluded to. What precise form the movement will take we are not prepared to say; but the Council will probably very soon hear of it. Meantime let us suggest that the importance of the subject, as well as proper respect for the petition above-mentioned, demand that the Council should instruct the consideration of the matter to a committee with the understanding that a report shall be made, and the question whether the city will or will not undertake the creation of a reform school, shall be decided.

OLD TIMES AT PORTLAND.—Yesterday, by chance, we stumbled upon an old rusty, dusty newspaper printed in this city eighteen years ago. It seemed to recall many an interesting or curious reminiscence of old times. The Oregon papers were just then engaged in a wordy wrangle about the removal of Judge Deady from the District and Supreme benches of the Territory. The paper in question has several columns filled with the names of immigrants who arrived that year overland, the list purporting to be in this case but it had been mutilated long when it probably stated the total number. One of the long editorial articles was in relation to a Pacific Railroad, and calling for a mass railroad convention to be held at Salem on the 7th of the following December, the paper bearing date Feb. 29, 1852. The trans-continental railroad was referred to as "the great and all-absorbing topic of the day." Jo. Lane was then the great Democratic mogul, and the paper went in for doing "he day, after his hair." In the advertising columns we find very many names which are not now in our city directory, and some who operated then from a different base than their present. W. Ladd & Co advertised for sale "paints and oils, window sash, glass and doors, provisions etc. Geo. Abernethy & Co were Oregon city dealers in "ready made clothing, dry goods, groceries, hardwares, crockery, &c." Story & Redington dealers in "drugs and medicines." Allen & Lewis were tonight in the same boat as now, "at the old stand of Allen, DaWitt & Co., near Flanders' store." Leonard & Green were "shipping and commission merchants"—"two doors below the Land Office." Capt. Thos. Hawks ran the "——— Fire Fly"—"orders left with W. S. Ladd & Co." N. J. Owen was proprietor of the "———n Hotel. C. P. Bacon, as now, kept a boarding house. George H. Flanders was a "commission, forwarding and jobber in merchandize." L. B. Ewing & Co. offered, for sale at "the lowest market price," "dry goods, hardware, groceries, &c." L. H. Francis (colored) was then in full blast, and inquiring of his customers, "Why will you delay?" Trevett & Co. were "commission merchants," corner of Front and ——— streets." Of the lawyers, of the names now known to the fraternity, we find only that of P. A. Marquam. And, so, going on through the whole paper, we find that in almost every individual case there has been an entire revolution in business and personal relations of men, or their names have dropped away from the living records of earth.

RIVER STEAMERS.—All the steamers of the P. T. Co., both above and below the falls, have been very busy since the last rise of water, and have carried freight to their full capacity at every trip made. Just at the present, however, owing to the lack of shipping and storage room here, the ——— has been obliged to hold up a while, and, meantime, the Shoo Fly, an upper river ——— has been put in the dry dock at Oregon City to have her hull remodeled after the fashion of Capt. Kellogg's new model. This model is said to be so admirably in respect of speed and ease of handling that all the company's boats will eventually be made over after it. The Fannie Patton which used to be a slow boat, is now, since receiving the new shape, one of the fastest boats ever put on the river. The speed of the Senator was improved in a similar manner.

A HANDSOME DONATION.—On Sunday, Mr. J. C. Smith was presented with $438, by employees of the railroad. Mr. Smith is the man who was shot some weeks ago at Albany while interfering to separate two men who were fighting. It will be remembered he was brought to this city and had his leg had to be amputated, in consequence of the wound. This liberal donation, which does honor to the hearts of his fellow workmen, was presented to enable him to purchase an artificial leg. Mr. Smith is getting along finely, and will soon be able to get out again.

JUDGE FOR PEDDLING.—J. H. Cummings wanted to make an honest living as a dealer in a small way, so he started business as a broom peddler. He had, however, forgotten to buy a city license, and his forgetfulness got him into trouble. Having taken in the act, he was also taken before the Police Judge, who fined him ten dollars and costs. Thus were whisked away the profits on a couple of dozen whisks, at least.

RESOLUTION OF THANKS.—At a regular meeting of Ivy Chapter No. 3, Order of the Eastern Star, held January 12th, 1871, a resolution was adopted tendering the sincere thanks of the Chapter to those parties who so kindly aided them at the Masonic banquet, on the evening of St. John's day, December 27th, 1870. H. L. Hoyt, Chairman of Committee.

AT THE RAILROAD DOCK.—The Oriflamme has received the greater part of her cargo at the Clinton Point dock. Both the Oregon City steamers went over there yesterday and unloaded into her their heavy freights. The California, alone at the steamship dock, looked as lonely as a widower of dock.

ON A LECTURING TOUR.—Mr. C. Beal, G. W. C. T., is on a lecturing tour up the valley. We see in the Corvallis Gazette an announcement that he will lecture in Corvallis to-morrow evening, and will organize a county lodge for Benton county, on Thursday.

AT LAST.—One individual has at last been arrested under the vagrant act—one Charles Lemon. Charles is a squeezed Lemon, with nothing to do and nowhere to go to. Judge Lewis, therefore sent him up to the county authorities.

COLLECTIONS.—About thirty five dollars were paid, yesterday, into the Police Court, by several persons, for the privilege of talking too loud and want of sufficient care in the selection of words.

GOOD LUCK.—The late Fair in aid of the Lutheran church, cleared about two hundred dollars, which is certainly a handsome sum for an evening's entertainment.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—Owing to the "indisposition" of one or two of the important personages in the play announced for last evening, the management was compelled at a late hour to change the programme and to produce "The Maid of Munster" and "The Conjugal Lesson." Both these elegant comedies were performed in that excellent style for which the leading players are distinguished.

To-morrow night Mr. Bates will take a benefit.

THE SKATING RINK.—There were a considerable number of people at the Rink (Armory Hall) yesterday afternoon and again last evening. Several of the ladies have already acquired the art so as to be able to glide as easily and gracefully as upon real skates and ice. It is a delightful and fascinating amusement, and under the excellent management of Mr. Bradford, the Rink is becoming a popular place of resort. For the proper times to go, consult the advertisement, or better still, go to the Rink and procure one of Mr. Bradford's regulation cards.

CONCERT.—There was a fair attendance at Philharmonic Hall last evening, to hear Carl Viouxtemps' piano and organ performances, the songs by Carland Otto, and Mart Taylor's eccentricities. A new bill will be presented to-night.

THE COURTS.

MONDAY, Jan. 16, 1871.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.—Benj. Stark vs. C. P. Bacon, et al.; action at law to recover real property; tried by the Court without jury, finding, that plaintiff is entitled to possession of the property in controversy and for costs of suit. Writ of error sued out to Supreme Court of the United States. Trimble for plaintiff, Chapman for defendant.

Benj Stark vs. L. M. Starr; action to recover real property; tried by the Court without jury, finding, that plaintiff is entitled to possession of property in controversy. Writ of error sued out put to Supreme Court of the United States. Trimble for plaintiff, Chapman for defendant.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—State of Oregon vs. Nobles and Fleming; habeas corpus, and defendants brought before the Judge; hearing upon a motion to discharge defendants from the commitment issued out of the Police Court.

THE CALIFORNIA'S FREIGHT AND CONSIGNEES.—The propeller California, which arrived from Puget Sound and Victoria on Sunday evening, brought as follows: Dog fish oil, 17 bbls, 51 casks and 8 bxs; whale oil, 16 casks; 6 bxs dried herrings; 1 keg fresh fish; dry hides, 29, green do, 18; sheep skins, 39 bdls; deer skins, 1 bdl; 1 sk wool; 1 sk beef tails; 8 bbls and 4 kegs cranberries; 5 bxs whalebone; 20 bdls codfish; 1 sk garlick; 1 looking-glass frame; 5 bxs old metal; 14 pkgs mdse. The following is her list of consignees: Allen & Lewis, George L Hibbard & Co, Janion, Rhodes & Co, McCraken, Merrill & Co, R Pittock & Co, M Boshfoer, L Goldsmith, Kahn Bros, M Seller, Oregon Iron Works, H Failing & Co, J Conner, Walter Bros, L White & Co, G W Warren, O J Carr, H Carson, S M Holdermess, William Templeton, O F Moreland, H Sawyer, J Kraemer & Co, Chief Quartermaster.

CARGO OF FREIGHT.—If any one imagines that there is a lack of freight offering, he is certainly laboring under a mistake. The Oriflamme will take over 500 tons this afternoon, and yet she cannot carry anywhere near all the freight offered. There is in store in the P. T. Co.'s warehouse at Oregon City, 1,800 tons of produce, waiting an opportunity for shipment. There is little or no room for it here, and the company is greatly puzzled to know what to do with the freight that is constantly pressing on their boats at points up the river.

STOCK OF GOODS FOR KALAMA.—We saw yesterday at Corbitt & Macleay's warerooms a stock of groceries, comprising a general assortment, marked for Kalama. Mr. Macleay informed us that the goods are going to Capt. E. G. Ingalls, a gentleman well known in this city, who is going to open at Kalama a retail store. We hope that Capt. Ingalls, as the pioneer tradesman of the future city, will meet with abundant success.

MEMORANDA.—The San Francisco Commercial Herald of Jan. 6, under the head of "memoranda" from foreign ports, notes that the brig Nadaweaka from Newport, Wales, bound for Portland, Oregon, put into Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, Sept. 26, with loss of three men, and sailed again October 24th. A similar memoranda from Eastern ports notes that the brig Nickie cleared at Boston, Dec. 30, for Portland, Oregon.

STEAMERS TO SAIL.—The steamship Oriflamme, Bolles, commander, will sail for San Francisco, at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The propeller California, Hayes, commander, will sail at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, for Victoria, Port Townsend, Seattle, Steilacoom and Olympia.

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR.—In our yesterday's item concerning the January meeting of the Oregon State Horticultural Society, the word Tuesday should have been Thursday. The meeting will be held on Thursday, the 19th inst.

December is here, with her storms and her rain,
And it makes the folks of cold weather complain.
Hark ye, dear gentlemen, this need not be so,
You can all be kept warm, for O'NEIL & CO.
Can fit you so nicely, so snug and so warm,
With CLOTHES that are proof 'gainst the bitterest storm,
And they sell them so cheaply, that all who go there,
Unlike Flora McFlimsey, can find something to wear.

A BITTER TONIC THAN QUININE.—Calisaya bark of the primest quality is a prominent ingredient of PLANTATION BITTERS. With it are combined the juices and extracts of a variety of aperient, anti-bilious, anti-spasmodic and anti-septic vegetable substances, and these properties are conserved and rendered diffusible by the pure spirit of the sugar-cane—the most genial and harmless of all stimulants; but this inestimable bark is, after all, the most important medical agent contained in the Bitters. In the various complaints for which quinine is prescribed, PLANTATION BITTERS may be given with the certainty of producing all the good effects claimed by the faculty to result from the use of that dangerous alkaloid, without the fear of any subsequent evil consequences. The entire harmlessness of the Bitters is guaranteed, the testimony on this point, from the highest sources, being conclusive.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS AND MACHINES,
MILL FURNISHING GOODS, WOOD-WORKING MACHINERY,
RUBBER AND LEATHER BELTING, FARM WAGONS, GRASS SEEDS, ETC., ETC.

The particular attention of the Farming Community is called to our recent importation of Improved MOLINE PLOWS, greatly superior to any other Moline Plow in the Market, notwithstanding a certain firm, somewhat noted for truth and veracity,—"so called"—persist in saying that they are "bogus," "California made," etc

Don't fail to call and look at one of the MOLINE PLOW Co's LATEST MAKE, and we think you will coincide with a Yamhill Farmer, who, after "looking round" and hearing the old story about bogus Molines, etc., delivered himself thusly. "Well, Myers, I'll just chance a couple of those new plows, and if they are 'bogus,' as that gassy chap above here says, I'll be darned if I won't take bogus in mine every time."

Next month we expect another shipment of those justly celebrated BAIN WAGONS, (Have how only a few left of the last lot,) STILL FURTHER IMPROVED over all heretofore received. It is not presumption on our part to say that they are head and shoulders above any other Farm wagon in market in point of material, workmanship and finish, having achieved a reputation throughout the West, and wherever introduced on the Pacific, second to no other wagon. Some of the first sold here—three years ago—have never yet had a tire reset, and our experience has enabled us to order many changes and improvements over the ordinary make of western wagons to meet the wants and requirements of this coast. We shall sell the BAIN WAGON at the lowest possible price for a first class wagon, and WARRANT them such, and in this connection beg to caution purchasers not to confound them with "inferior makes" that others are, or may endeavor to sell on the strength of the established reputation of the Bain manufacture, particularly after having made repeated and persistent efforts (without avail) to purchase wagons of Mr. Bain for this market.

The Recall of Motley.

[Washington Telegram, Jan 9.]

A letter of Motley's dated December 7th, in which he says, after alluding to his recall: "It would be impossible for any diplomatic agent to believe himself more thoroughly possessing the confidence of the Government which he had the honor to serve than I supposed myself to enjoy at that moment. No intimation of contemplated change had been made to me; no shadow of difference of opinion existed between the President and the Government and myself as to our relations with Great Britain, or any other power, or as to the general policy of his administration, and I was at that moment very pressingly engaged in as delicate and confidential diplomatic correspondence, with yourself and the British Government, upon several important matters, as could well be confided by a Government to its foreign agent. The report in the newspapers was dismissed, therefore, as an idle rumor, the President of the United States being incapable, as I believed, of thus dealing with a public servant whom he had himself appointed. Had a change been contemplated, I felt certain I should have been privately informed of it first; and if the public afterward had any charges against me of dereliction from duty, I was sure they would have been preferred to my face, so that I might have the opportunity of answering them. No man has a right to doubt that in such cases I would have at once offered my resignation."

At the end of Motley's long letter he says: "I have thus recorded in my last official act a solemn protest against the outrage which I believe entirely without precedent."

Mr. Motley correspondence is down to the December. At that date Secretary Fish addressed a letter to Moran, Secretary of Legation, saying Motley having closed his mission, the same no permission, but assumes the right to place his statement on record. Questioning the taste and denying the right of this assumption, Fish nevertheless allows a place in the diplomatic records of the country to Motley's history of the end of his mission. Fish remarks that Motley says it has been stated that he was removed from the ... to England on account of ... the San Domingo treaty ... ator who honors him ... Sale of Government Steamer "Newberne."

Office of Depot Quartermaster,
SAN FRANCISCO, December 7, 1870.

THE UNITED STATES STEAMER NEWberne, with all her gear, rigging, spars, sails, boats, cabin furniture and other appointments, will be offered for sale at public auction, at the office of the Depot Quartermaster, in San Francisco, on MONDAY, the 16th day of January, 1871.

The Newberne is a screw propeller of 933 tons, O. M., of 250 horse power, 36-inch cylinder and 36-inch stroke, 200 feet in length; was built of white oak, in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1862; draws about 13 feet of water when loaded, and is thoroughly well found in every particular.

In April last, she received a new boiler and donkey pump with bother attached, and was thoroughly overhauled.

TERMS—Cash, in gold coin of the United States, 20 per cent. to be paid on the day of sale, and the balance on the delivery of the vessel.

Further particulars may be obtained of the undersigned or at the office of Captain William B. Hughes, A. Q. M., San Francisco. C. G. SAWTELLE, Major d15dtdm and Quartermaster, in charge of Depot.

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd-numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the definite location by Government of the lands co-terminus with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have exhausted pre-emption or homestead rights to any tract in an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect. I. R. MOORES,
5Sjulsdaw Land Agent O. & C. R. R. Co., Salem
